MANY THINK!

when the Creator said to woman, "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a curse was pronounced against the human race, but the joy felt by every Mother when she first presses to her heart her babe, proves the contrary. Danger and suffering lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother, and should be avoided, that she may reach the hour when the hope of her heart is to be realized, in full vigor and strength.

Rode on a Pale Horse, Carrying Terror to All.

Mischievous Work of Boys.

Interesting Story of the Ghost That Almost Captured the Republic of Texas.

One night in January, in the year 1836, two or three young men, while at a farm house not far from Old Washington, Tex., manufactured and turned loose upon the unsuspecting citizens of the town a ghost that caused one negro the loss of a leg, and caused the President of the Republic to order the army, creating the greatest consternation a ghost ever caused on earth. These young men, one of whom is yet living, were spending the night with an old doctor by the name of Ryan, who resided on his plantation about two miles from the capital. They had been hunting during the day, and after supper, while smoking in the doctor's office, which was a small, isolated building located in a corner of the front yard, they noticed a skeleton in an open closet. It was the skeleton of a very large man and perfectly articulated. The night was a little cold, and one of them remarked as he lit his cigar and seated himself before the fire:

"Now, if we had a jug of Bourbon, we would be fixed."

"Well, suppose we send after a bottle?" said another.

To the objection that they had no one to send, George Wilson remarked:

"Send the stiff," nodding his head toward the skeleton.

"Just the thing," replied the first speaker. "My old white horse knows the road to town, and, if started, he would go straight to Jack Campbell's saloon and stop."

They all laughed at the picture of the ghost on the white horse came in to their mind, and one of them insisted that the idea was too good to pass without being carried out.

"Go and get the horse," he said, "and I will write the note."

The dare devil, never thinking of the consequences, wrote a short note to his friend and placed it in an envelope. The letter was sealed and addressed to Mr. Campbell and then tied to the skeleton's bony fingers. They then secretly fastened the skeleton to the well clothed Spanish saddle. The old horse did not much like the looks of the rider, and when he was turned loose he started toward the town of Washington in a gallop.

Washington was at that time the capital of the Republic of Texas and a great crowd had assembled in town to witness Congressional debates and discuss the latest news from Mexico.

The young men after watching the horse and his horrible looking rider for a moment turned and went back into the office, not without some misgivings as to the result of such a harebrained scheme of devilry. They had hardly seated themselves in the doctor's comfortable office before the fire when the report of a pistol reached their ears, followed by a most unearthly yell. They did not learn until the next day just what had happened.

An old painter by the name of Holmes was riding slowly along on his way from town to his house when he suddenly found himself, as he said, face to face with a genuine ghost. He did not lose any time in asking questions. It was light enough for him to see the hideous thing pretty plainly. He was a game man, but he afterwards said that he was scared out of his senses. The old white horse was trotting slowly along, and there sat the grim monster bold upright in the saddle. He could see its grinning teeth, hear its bones rattle and he imagined that its eyes were two bolts of fire. He shouted something, but it kept coming and seemed to be right at him. He did manage to draw his pistol with a shaking hand and fire. The flash and report frightened the old white horse, and he sprang forward in a gallop, and then the old bones rattled as if the devil himself were shaking them. The farmer's horse needed no urging. As much frightened as his master, he wheeled in his tracks and started back to town with the speed of the wind.

Mr. Holmes looked back and saw the white horse close behind him, and it looked as if the terrible monster was reaching out its long bony fingers, eager to clutch him and tear him to pieces. His own horse happened to be a good one, and under the double stimulus of fright and his master's spur he managed to keep in the lead. As soon as the farmer reached town he began to fire the remaining shots from his pepper-box and shout for help.

It was early and the stores were still open. People rushed out on the side-walks, and when they saw a man riding at the top of his horse's speed and some terrible grinning white object on a white horse riding after him, they did not know what to make of it. A negro shouted "Ghost!" and then one man fired a shot at the thing. That was the signal for a general uproar, and a scene of excitement and consternation such as Gen. Houston said "was never equalled outside of the infernal regions." Mr. Holmes would have stopped in front of the hotel, but his frightened horse entertained different ideas on the subject, and ran on around the plaza. It never occurred to a single individual that the thing they saw was a human skeleton.

Congress was in session at the time, and the members rushed into the street supposing that nothing less than the vanguard of Santa Anna's army had surprised the capital. In those unhappy times every one carried arms, and, as Farmer Holmes came around the second time, with his white hair streaming in the wind and death or the devil on his white horse in hot pursuit, the Texans opened fire. Pistols, musters and shot-guns were emptied into the pack of bones and they could be heard rattling and cracking above the stentorian yells of the flying farmer. Strangely enough, not one shot of the first volley struck the white horse. Hounds, of which there were forty packs in the town, joined in the pursuit, while the engineers of the two steam-boats lying at the wharf turned all the steam in the boats' boilers into their whistles.

"What in the devil is it?" said Gen. Houston to the Secretary of War. "Order out the rifles and capture the thing. They are not afraid of the devil himself."

Women and children were screaming and the negroes were praying. At a corner of the street the farmer's horse collided with an old negro and fell, throwing Mr. Holmes sprawling in the sand. The negro crawled away with a broken leg, and Mr. Holmes shouted: "He has got me now, by thunder!"

The old white horse having nothing to follow, trotted around to Mr. Campbell's saloon, where he stopped and interested himself in kicking at the hounds. The crowd, including several Congressmen and men who had distinguished themselves in a dozen battles with Mexicans and Indians, ran inside and fired at the thing through the windows. Not a man was game enough to face his Satan's Majesty and ask him what he wanted. These men were not afraid on the battle field or the field of honor, but the devil on his pale horse possessed horrors that crushed all human fortitude. The thing which which the bones had been tied to the saddle had doubtless become weakened by the great strain to which they had been subjected, and when three or four monster blood hounds seized the skeleton they easily tore it loose and it fell with a clatter upon the sidewalk. The whole pack fell upon it, anarling and yelping, and dragging it about in the street. Some of the holder ones peeped from the saloon and saw the saddle empty and the hounds tearing a white object to pieces, and one into whose mind a ray of the truth had crept, said: "Let us go out and help the dogs to kill the devil."

Gen. Houston, when told the true story, threatened to have these worthless evildoers shot. Mr. Wilson who is yet living, says that he had to hide out from Farmer Holmes for a long time, and that he never did forgive him until they had met on the battle field of San Jacinto in the following April. It is said that Santa Anna never laughed but once while he was a prisoner in the Texas camp and that was over this story as told to him by an American officer. "I think," said he, "that I should have run away as the old farmer did, for we are all very much afraid of the devil." (Globe-Democrat.)

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment of settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also a convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every law in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or meat, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists place fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Hinghamton, N. Y. THE FUSION.

The Owensboro Farmers Journal, Populist,

Gives Some Explanation Regarding the Demo-Populist Fusion.

Says the Populists Have Been Swallowed by the Democrats.

WHICH IS IT? The Democrats say the Populists agreed to vote under the Democratic device in Ohio county. The Populists say they are to have a fusion device. Which side is telling the truth? Has the Populist party been turned over to the Democrats, and the Populists ignorant of the fact? Does the People's party of Ohio county know just "where they are at?"

CHANCE NAME OF FIRM. Chairman Miller, of Ohio county, said that fusion was like a man who had a farm and could not cultivate it himself, so he took in a partner and divided up the spoils. Now if Jones had a farm he could run it in the name of Jones, but if he should take in a partner by the name of Smith, the correct style of the firm would be Jones & Smith, and not Jones, as it was before Smith was taken into the partnership. Otherwise Smith (the Populist) would not be in the deal. Do you catch on, Bud—in the point visible to the naked eye?

DESTROY ORGANIZATION. The Democrats are fearful that if they give up their device it will destroy the Democratic organization. Now if it would destroy the Democratic organization to vote a fusion or citizens' ticket, what would it do to the People's party organization to clear the fence and vote the Democratic ticket? Why, the People's party would be compelled to submit to the Jewish act—be swallowed up and made to disappear from the face of the earth.

DIDN'T PARTICIPATE. The People's party convention of Ohio county was a mass convention, and the Democratic convention was a delegated convention, yet the Democratic convention was three to one larger than the Populist, which shows plainly that the Populists refused to take part in a cut-and-dried convention to vote the Democratic ticket.

Describing the Democratic-Populist fusion convention at Hartford last Monday the Hartford Herald says:

"Mr. Sam James, ('Candy Sam') a middle of-the-road Populist, from Davies county, was on our streets, but made no outbreak. It was generally supposed that he had been employed to come here by the Republicans to break up the fusion arrangements, but the great enthusiasm and evident unanimity of the situation probably took the gentleman by surprise and he did not offer any advice."

We did not expect to say one word regarding the Ohio county convention. Mr. Worley, of the Fordsville Express, attended our convention and made a speech. We were glad to have him present as we welcome all Populists to our conventions. Mr. Worley invited us to go with him to the Ohio county convention and then go from there to the State convention direct from Hartford. We were not there to break up the fusion arrangements with the Democrats. As we stated before, did not expect to say a word regarding the Pop-Dem. convention, as it would not stand in the deal was made known and the Democratic fraud exposed. But as the Democratic Herald and the Messenger have taken the liberty to use our name to create prejudice between us and the People's party, we will expose the deal. Our information was given us by Democrats themselves. And if our information is correct, the People's party of Ohio county has been swallowed up and body, boots and breeches, by the Democrats. Talk about harmonious meeting—a more "cut and dried" convention has never been seen by us and we have been active in conventions for several years. It passed off just as smoothly as a bricklayer would lay one brick over another.

A gentleman was nominated in the People's party convention for Assessor; after being nominated he stepped forward and said:

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: I thank my friends for putting me in nomination, and I would be pleased to have the office if my name will not have to appear under the Democratic device," and he asked the question, it was such a case. But the "cut and dried" chap shut him off without reply by putting others in nomination. The Democrats said that the deal was complete and it was settled that the People's party should vote the Democratic ticket, and the Populist leaders in order to pacify their people said there was to be a fusion device, but that was to be arranged next May. Does it not look strange that two parties should meet in convention and divide and nominate officers and adjourn without an understanding as to what device the ticket was to be run under? We always understood that the convention should settle that matter, and if a fusion device was to be agreed upon the convention was the only legal body to make that arrangement. No individual or private committee can change a People's party device unless the county convention instructs the committee to do so. Has the People's party convention of Ohio county instructed its committee to deliver the party over to the Democrats? Or has the People's party convention, which means the voters, had anything to say regarding the matter? The People's party committee can receive propositions but all such propositions must be referred to the people in convention for adoption or rejection; otherwise, the agreement is not binding upon the People's party. The voters themselves are the rulers. —[Farmers Journal.]

Many lives have been saved by the timely use of Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. When a cold creeps upon you, or a cough racks your lungs, no remedy is so prompt or effectual. Can be given to children with perfect safety and is sure to produce beneficial results. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Don't Like the Fusion. Risingville, April 11.—The silver Democrats and Populist, of Logan county, fused and nominated a ticket but as yet the Democratic committee has failed to issue certificates to the successful candidates. There is a big kick about the action of the committee. There is talk of a contest in the Judge and Jailer races, and if there is, the ticket will in all probability be defeated in November. A large number of Democrats did not want to fuse at all with the Populists, but it was stuffed down their throats by the committee, which is trying to run the politics of this county.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey cures coughs and colds. It soothes the air passages. It heals the bronchial tubes. It strengthens weak lungs. It builds up the tissues. It enables the blood to receive its proper supply of oxygen. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

The Day Has Passed. The day for preachers to get up in the pulpit and abuse other denominations, is just about passed. You can not build up by trying to tear down the reputation of your neighbor. Some preachers need to study more closely the spirit that possessed the Public when he was only able to pray "Lord, have mercy upon me, a sinner." —[Winchester Democrat.]

Young Men Read This. A dispatch from Louisville says: One hundred several years ago a news boy would $350 on the street of this city. He waited until morning, looked up the lost column in the newspapers and found the owner, a prominent and wealthy lawyer. The boy was offered a reward of $50 or a home for life. He accepted the latter. The former news boy is now a leading lawyer of St. Louis and just after Easter will be married to one of the wealthiest and prettiest society girls in the Monmouth City.

Revenue and Tariff. On and by itself it is a cheering fact that in the thirty days immediately succeeding the inauguration of President McKinley the annual monthly deficit has been converted to a surplus. The revenue of the government was less than its expenses by $4,195,050 during the last month of Mr. Cleveland's administration; the excess of revenue over expenditure has been $9,004,664 during the first month of President McKinley's administration.

The cause of this change from deficiency to surplus is plain. It being certain that a protective tariff will be enacted, importers have rushed foreign goods into the United States, while the low rates of the Wilson bill still are in force. An unfavorable change of the position is that our imports are exceeding our exports.

But this condition is not normal, and ought to be made brief. The senate will be to blame if it be prolonged. For if that body enter into protracted debate upon or irrational tinkering of the Dingley bill the flow of imports will continue, and probably increase. Temporarily the revenue will be augmented by the duties paid on this unnatural volume of foreign purchases, but the evil effects will be twofold; first, when the new tariff goes into effect the market will be so glutted by foreign-made goods that our own mills and factories will not be able to resume until they are disposed of; second, the volume of imports will fall off in the same proportion by which it now is rising unnaturally.

The responsibility of the senate is great. A speedy settlement of the tariff issue not only is desired but demanded by the people. The increase of imports during the past month is not to be contemplated with satisfaction as a prolonged condition.—[Inter Ocean.]

The Last Half Century's Experience. For half a century this country has been attempted, by fits and starts, to protect its ships in the foreign trade by the English system of subsidies. What has been the result? Whenever we seriously begin that system England doubles the subsidies paid to her ships competing with ours. If that is not sufficient to enable them to beat us, then she increases their subsidies still more. In a little while, it has been found, the American people get tired of this kind of warfare, they look more and more fixedly at the outgoing money from the national Treasury, forgetful of the benefits the nation derives from owning its own ships, keeping their earnings in our own country and giving employment to our own people in all parts of the country. The next thing is the repeal of the subsidy; then we see the ships that have depended upon the subsidy laid up, their owners ruined, building stops; foreign shipowners come in and gobble up the freight, fortified and entrenched by their own Government aid, and Americans are driven out of the business. That has been our experience during the last half of the present century.—[Economic.]

We are authorized to announce

As a candidate for re-election to the office of Commonwealth's Attorney in the 6th Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

According to a resolution published elsewhere this morning the Populists of Bartlett's precinct do not propose to be delivered into the Democratic party. They have principles that cannot be controlled by two men.

BILL NYE has said that the best way to break up a "settling" hen, is to jam her into a piece of stove pipe, and then cement both ends up. We make this suggestion for the benefit of our readers who raise poultry.

GREECE and Turkey are at it. The sympathies of Americans will be with Greece. While war between any nations is to be deplored, still it will be advantageous to America in a commercial sense. It will create a greater demand for agricultural products, and the increased demand will raise prices.

MR. GEORGE RICHARDSON, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, has seen fit to shoot off his mouth regarding the Democratic fight in the city of Louisville. Mr. Richardson will find his hands full to get elected without getting mixed up in Louisville politics, which at present are in extremely bad odor.

FIRE-SILVER organs directly after the election of Maj. McKinley, spoke sueringly and sarcastically of the return of prosperity. There is not so much of such stuff seen in the columns of silver papers now. There are abundant signs of better times throughout the country. A year from this day will see such a revival of trade along the line of agriculture, commerce and manufacturing, that fire silver will have become a myth.

THE Kentucky Republican house passed a bill to reduce the salary of the assistant adjutant general, a worthless sinecure, from $1,200 to $1 a year, but a Democratic Senate killed the bill. Republicans went to work on the line of reform and re-trenchment and save expense to the State, but those miserable partisans up there will not permit it. Some of those old cusses are so narrow between the eyes that they can use both optics on the keyhole of a door at the same time!

WHATEVER may be said of the Kentucky Legislature one thing is sure: The Fourth Congressional district has no reason to be ashamed of its representatives at Frankfort, but on the other hand is proud of them. Blanford, of Breckinridge; Rice, of Grayson, and our own C. M. Barnett, are men of superior intelligence, and have conducted themselves in a manner highly gratifying to the people of their respective counties. If the Legislature was composed of such men, we would have been spared the disgraceful scenes that have taken place at Frankfort.

WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE.
Cures Weakness, Indigestion, and all the troubles of a weak system. Sold everywhere.

GREECE and Turkey have at last begun fighting in earnest according to the press dispatches.

The law breakers of this state continue their high handed proceedings. It seems now that the private affairs of some of our citizens, are to be regulated and attended to by outlaws. This will certainly result in serious trouble, and it is only a matter of time until an explosion will occur in Kentucky, that will shake the old Commonwealth from the Big Sandy to the Mississippi River.

THE Democratic convention for the 9th Judicial District will meet at Hardinsburg in May. Judge T. R. McBeath and Mr. James Montgomery are candidates for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge. Mr. W. R. Haynes has announced himself as an independent candidate. Mr. Weed S. Cheli is the only Democratic candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney. We do not know whether the Republicans will make nominations for these offices or not. The district heretofore has been strongly Democratic, but there is a fighting chance for the Republicans this year. In the event the Republicans make nominations, they will have good material to select from.

NEXT year the Fourth Congressional district will elect another Congressman. Hon. D. H. Smith will, of course, ask an endorsement from his constituents, in return for the valuable services he has rendered them—services consisting in the main of a regular and monotonous drawing of his salary. THE REPUBLICAN sees no necessity in returning Mr. Smith, believing that it would be possible for Congress, the Nation and even the Democratic party to get along without him. There are Republicans, either in Ohio or Breckinridge counties, who can represent the Fourth Congressional district better than Mr. Smith. We suggest that Republicans begin to cast about them for an energetic young man to make the race next year. There will be no difficulty in putting Dave Smith on the shelf.

"Not Exactly Right."
Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sick headache, indigestion, biliousness. All druggists. 25c.

Past, Present and Future.
Long Island, intensely Democratic in former days, affords striking proof of the difference between Republican and Democratic administrations. In the olden days of Republican Protection the Long Island farmers fared fairly well; real estate was steadily improving in value; and the oyster trade proved remunerative. But all this has changed since 1893. Many farmers have allowed their potatoes to rot in the ground, not being able to sell them for more than ten cents a bushel. Real estate has been a drug in the market. Many property owners sold their buildings immediately after the Democratic National convention of 1896, preferring to take chances of being able to buy again at satisfactory prices, if free trade Bryan was defeated, rather than hold any real estate if he was elected.

But the Advanced Agent of Prosperity is casting his shadow over Long Island, and he will eventually reach there. Farmers are more interested in their spring work than they have been for the past two years. Capital is investing freely in real estate for suburban residences and for speculation. One of the most reliable real estate men has informed us that his sales in January of this year exceeded his total sales of property in 1896. But the oystermen, who badly need a touch of prosperity, can hardly reap any harvest during the present season, which ends next month. The Long Island oyster trade has been steadily declining year after year since 1893. The people have been too poor to buy freely of such luxuries as oysters. As an instance, it may be stated that one village, which used to receive an average of $1,000 a week from its oyster trade, does not now receive more than $300 a week. This makes slack trade for local stores, causes long credits and long grumblings, and helped to run up the majority for McKinley into big figures.

The Hawaii Question.
A week or two ago Hon. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, and one of the ablest and most capable of our diplomatists, lectured before the National Geographic Society at Washington, in regard to the annexation of Hawaii.

Mr. Foster does not find any reason, in our history or the history of other nations why we should not annex the islands and make them one of our territories, and he finds a great many reasons why we should do so. In the course of his lecture he said that four times in the past history of the islands of a foreign flag other than that of the United States had flitted over them—first the Russian, then the French, afterwards the British, and again the French. Any one of these, however, would again gladly resume sovereignty over them, and now the rising power of Japan menaces our influence.

The dispatches recently informed us that the Japanese had sent one of their warships to Honolulu, ostensibly to look after the interests of some Japanese emigrants. Our ship, Philadelphia, has been suddenly ordered there, for no particular purpose, according to the outgivings of the Department of State, except to relieve another one of our ships. At the same time we learn from other sources that the large emigration of Japanese to the islands recently is peculiar; that the so-called student emigrants are evidently youths who have been under military discipline, and that in the baggage of many of them have been found the full uniform of Japanese soldiers.

Japan has decided to spend about $150,000,000 in the next ten years in strengthening her navy. The Pacific is to be the great ocean of the future, as The Commercial agreed with Secretary Seward years ago. With our great Pacific we are entitled to be a great Pacific power, and we need the Hawaiian Islands, and the controlling element there needs us. The islands are an essential outpost of the Nicaragua canal, which we are bound to build, sooner or later, to complete our coast line. It is the true American policy to annex the Hawaiian Islands, which are not as far from our continental area as the Alaskan islands we already hold.

SHRIVE.
Mr. P. A. Moxley has replenished his old stock of goods with a full line of spring goods.

Mr. James A. Duff has been visiting in the neighborhood. He returned home Sunday.

Rev. J. T. Taylor filled his regular appointment at Pleasant Grove Saturday and Sunday.

The select school at this place closed on the 4th and the notable feature was an entertainment given by the pupils which proved to be a splendid success. A large crowd was present and the pupils demonstrated the thoroughness of their training received from their teacher, L. W. Godsey.

Miss Lelia Murphy has gone to Olton where she has charge of the millinery department of Bond & Co's store.

Dr. D. H. Godsey, who has been attending the medical college at Nashville, has returned and is finishing the public school term at this place, left by Mr. Herbert Cox last fall.

A large number of young people from this place will go to Louisville on Saturday the 24th, taking advantage of the excursion to visit the metropolis.

L. W. Godsey will begin a normal school on Monday, the 19th, for the benefit of those who will attend the examination. A number of boarding pupils will be present and avail themselves of the opportunity offered in a quiet country school.

The Demo Populist combine ticket, viewing it from every standpoint, is a "soft soap," and could not have please us better. We'll show them fellows how much trouble they have been to for nothing when the idea of November come.

After the Civil Service.
Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, who made a vigorous attack on the civil service law in the last congress, has introduced a bill to declare the true intent and scope of the civil service act. The bill declares the civil service act shall not be construed to embrace any of the employees in the government printing office of bureau of engraving and printing, nor any person employed as workman or laborer, nor construed to allow the appointment to office or promotion in any class of civil service covered by the act of any person who has not passed competitive examination or show to be exempted from such examination, and all appointments since March 4, 1893, without competitive examination unless such appointee special exempted shall be declared illegal and contrary to the intent and spirit of the act.

The bill proposes that all persons who have been employed or appointed in the classified service since March 4, 1893, without examinations shall appear before the civil service commission for examination within ninety days, and at the examinations officials shall not give them preference over other citizens who are qualified to enter the service. The bill will compel all of those now in offices over which President Cleveland extended the shelter of the civil service act to pass examinations. This is beginning to sound right. Hurrah for Grosvenor! —[Pantagraph.]

Carbuncles

Appeared Each Season Until Hood's Sarsaparilla Was Purified With Hood's Sarsaparilla—An Indolent Ulcer.

"For several years I was troubled with carbuncles on my left side and my back. They would disappear in winter and re-appear the next summer. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and have never had any carbuncles since. My little son had a fever and an indolent ulcer appeared on his left limb and spread half way around it. Our physician recommended a blood purifier and I gave the boy Hood's Sarsaparilla with gratifying results." A. G. B. JAMES, Polkville, Miss.

"I have been a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism and in October began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. I continued it until January when I could go about as well as any one and I have had no acute pains since." I. W. MINNICK, Grand Isle, Louisiana.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Restoration of Prosperity.

Free-Trade has always been downed in this country whenever there has been a fair fight between it and Protection. The Free-Traders know this full well, and for that reason they resort, whenever possible, to under-hand methods to propagate their pet theory. As soon as they were fairly beaten last November, they began, with much shrewdness and subtlety, to lay the foundations for future prestige by pretending to believe that Protectionists had predicted that prosperity like that of 1891 and 1892 would follow immediately upon the election of Mr. McKinley. It was the old Free-Trade trick of setting up a man of straw that they might knock him down again—a game which has proved only too successful to the Free-Traders in the past. Now that such prosperity as that of the days of the McKinley law has not immediately resulted, the Free-Traders have begun to say that the predictions of the Protectionists have not come true. No Protectionist claimed that great prosperity would immediately follow. Every Protectionist knew that no measure of prosperity equal to that of 1891 and 1892 could come while the anti-American Wilson-Gorman law was still in existence. What they did claim was that the assurance of a return to the system of Protection in the near future would put an end to further disaster and distress, would give stability to whatever business had been saved from the destructive power of partial Free-Trade, and would restore confidence; and that the actual restoration of Protection would, in due time and at no distant day, bring back such prosperity as we had in 1891 and 1892 under the McKinley law. Everything they claimed as the immediate result of the election of Major McKinley has come true—and more, as every trade report since November has proved. And that their promises for the future will be as surely fulfilled, the revival already felt in business is abundant evidence. —[Economist.]

Airship Fake Explained.
"The air-ship sighted in the West," says the St. Louis Republic, "is a fake. The aerial monster was manufactured originally in New York, of paper-mache and ordinary balloon material, to advertise a certain brand of cigarettes. When it was set free at Denver some wine merchants and other mercantile gentlemen infringed the patent and made paper-mache air-ships for their own use. That is why the air-ship has been seen in so many places at one and the same time. There is more than one of them in the sky, and the cigarette balloon is not the only light in the heavens by any means. The whole thing is a clever advertising dodge, invented jointly by parties in New York and Chicago."

Home Suggestions.
MAGAZINE, April 22, '96.
To the People's party voters of Ohio county, brethren—I have just learned of a meeting held by our brethren of Bartlett's precinct at Westfield on the 18th, inst., for the purpose of considering the fusion arrangement made by some of our, would be, leaders with the Democratic bosses, and am reliably informed that said meeting was largely attended and that a resolution was adopted denouncing said fusion arrangement and requesting our County committee of our party to call a convention to nominate candidates for the various offices to be filled, the names of said candidates to be placed on the official ballot under our regular Plow and Hammer device.

This I think was a move in the right direction and if our county committee refuses to call a convention, as suggested, within the next ten days or two weeks, I'd urge our brethren at Westfield to issue a call for a

Mass Convention of the People's party voters of Ohio county. Let the purpose of organizing twenty committees, issuing a call for a convention to nominate candidates for the various county and district offices, whose names shall be placed on the official ballot in a column under our Plow and Hammer device, and to be voted for under said device at the election November 2, 1897.

I would also call the attention of our brethren, from all over the county, who do not fully endorse the fusion arrangement, to the fact that our party has already nominated Hon. Joe A. Parker as a candidate for Clerk of Court of Appeals, and his name will no doubt go on the ballot under our Plow and Hammer device. This being true I see no good reason why we should not nominate a full list of candidates whose names shall be placed on the ballot in the column with that of Mr. Parker.

If the candidates we have already nominated agree to become Democrats and allow their names to go on the ballot under the rooster device we will have to let them go, but if they denounce the aforesaid fusion arrangement and submit their claims as candidates to the proposed new convention we should heartily welcome them back into the fold and give them the consideration they deserve.

I believe to act at once along the line of the foregoing suggestions is the best thing we can do to maintain our party organization and identity and unless we intend to surrender our party and organization, soul and body, to the Democratic party and become Democrats ourselves, we should strike while the iron is hot and get our ticket nominated as quick as possible. Hurrah for Joe Parker.

And he don't know to this minute what made the teacher act so to him.—[Ex.]

A Petal Case.
A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Molly Warren appeared at the station house yesterday evening and applied for lodging for herself and three children. The latter were barefooted, and the smallest was pitifully begging for food. They were given a place to sleep and supper and breakfast. Mrs. Bell gave them some shoes and clothing. The woman said her husband had been dead four years, and that she was on her way back to Spencer county, where she was reared. All their possessions were in a little split basket, and could not have amounted to more than two or three small articles of wearing apparel. One of the children is afflicted with epilepsy and had several convulsions during the night. It was one of the worst cases of destitution that has ever turned up at police headquarters.—[Jaquiter.]

A flagman of a German railway was recently told that he would be fined if his wife was again seen flying a train. The man said she had never done so, and explained as follows. Being ill, she asked her husband to milk the goat. This animal he, however, unused to any one but the woman herself, and the flagman, to have trouble, dressed in his wife's clothes to deceive the goat. A shrill whistle reminded him of his duties, and he solved the passing express in a hard boiled egg.—[Ex.]

Louisville, Ky., April 19.—Cattle.—Receipts of cattle today were 957 head of fairly desirable quality, and made up largely of steers 900 to 1,000 lbs. The supply moved slowly under moderate demand, principally from local butchers. Transactions developed no feature of interest. Prices were steady at last week's close, which was a shade higher than last Monday.

Calves.—The calf market was slow to dull at $2.50 to $5.00. The liberal run of fair quality was all sold to local butchers.

Extra shipping, $4.25 to $4.50; light shipping, $4.00 to $4.25; best butchers, $3.90 to $4.25; fair to good butchers, $3.40 to $3.90; common to medium butchers, $2.50 to $3.25; good to extra oxen, $3.25 to $3.75; common to medium oxen, $2.25 to $2.75; feeders, $3.25 to $4.10; stockers, $2.50 to $3.75; bulls, $2.25 to $3.40; veal calves, $2.50 to $5.25.

Mediums brought $3.95 to $4.00, and lights sold at $3.50 to $3.90. The supply moved very slowly at these values, and clearances had not been made at a late hour.

Choice packing and butchers, 225 to 300 lbs., $4.00; fair to good packing, 180 to 200 lbs., $4.00; good to extra light, 160 to 180 lbs., $3.95 to $4.00; fat shoats, 120 to 150 lbs., $3.75 to $3.90; fat shoats, 100 to 120 lbs., $3.50 to $3.75; pigs, 60 to 90 lbs., $2.50 to $3.25; roughs, 150 to 400 lbs., $2.50 to $3.50.

Sheep and lambs.—Arrivals of sheep and lambs were about 750 head, of which about 200 were spring lambs. These were a drug and some did not find buyers. Prices for these ranged from 60¢ per 100 lbs. Sheep and fall lambs met with a steady market, and were all sold to shippers. Fall lambs declined 25¢ for the better grades to $4.75 for tops. Sheep values were unchanged.

Good to extra shipping sheep, $3.75 to $4.00; fair to good, $3.00 to $3.50; common to medium, $1.50 to $2.50; bucks, $2.00 to $3.00; extra shipping lambs, $4.40 to $4.75; fair to good, $4.00 to $4.25; medium butcher lambs, $3.00 to $3.50.

Dr. Hunter's Sufferer.
The Franklin County Grand Jury has a keen sense of discrimination.

In 1884, when Jo Blackburn and Cerro Gordo Williams were fighting for the succession of the latter's seat in the Senate, the air was thick with charges of bribery and use of money; but no obliging grand jury stood ready to wash a Democratic Legislature's "dirty linen," as Judge Cantrell expressed it a day or two ago.

In 1897, upon the almost unsupported statement of a bitter partisan, whose story is so absurd as to excite general ridicule, the grand jury conveniently indicted the Republican nominee for Senator for discussing with the prosecuting witness a suggestion of bribery made by the latter.

There is no pretense that any one was bribed—only an assertion by a man who conspired to trap Dr. Hunter that he had an interview with the latter upon the subject of bribery.

The whole affair smacks of a foul conspiracy, and the grand jury has been entirely too willing to listen to the concoctions of plotters, and to lend the machinery of the law to political and factional partisans.—[Lexington Leader.]

BAD BREATH

Is what a Woman Dreads
More Than Postilloneo
or Famine.

And yet thousands of women are so afflicted. In spite of all they can do this continues to grow worse, or at least grow no better. Tooth-brushes and breath perfume seem of no avail. The reason of their failure is in the majority of cases at least, they do not know the cause of their trouble. Perhaps the most frequent cause of unpleasant breath is catarrh. The inflammation of the mucous membrane of mouth and throat discolors the teeth, coats the tongue, causes the lips to become harsh and sore, and imparts a more or less disagreeable odor to the breath. Such a condition must be an extreme annoyance to the women whose instincts are naturally dainty; and she would do anything in her power to overcome it.

To all such women, the word that Pe-ru-na will absolutely cure catarrh, will therefore be good news. Pe-ru-na, by removing the catarrh, sweetens the breath and causes healthy secretions to take the place of the irritating ones which have been the cause of so much discomfort. The teeth are easily cleaned and the effects of a brisk brushing remain. The tongue resumes its natural color and the unhealthy coating disappears. Catarrh of the stomach also is often the cause of foul breath. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh wherever located.

A book of 64 instructively illustrated pages on catarrh, of which Dr. Hartman is the author, will be sent free to any address for a short time by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Near Enough.

"George! Why are you here?"
The fair Anabel McGuire descended to the parlor to greet the young man who had sent up his name, and she greeted him with this question.
"Because I wanted to see you dear. I couldn't live another day without looking in your sweet face."
"But you know what papa said?"
"Yes," replied the young man bitterly. "I am not likely to forget it."

"He's a very determined man, too, George."
"So I infer."
"And when he said you must not come to see me or even think of me again until you had fifty thousand dollars you could call your own; he meant it, George."
"Yes, indeed the young man dismally. "I suppose he did."
"And still you have dared his wrath."
"Yes."
"And all for me George. For my sake."
"Yes, love. My devotion for you is so intense that I have even dared to disobey your father and call on you in his house."

"But George you haven't saved that fifty thousand dollars yet, have you?" asked the maiden as a flutter of hope that possibly he might have secured the money in some way, crossed her bosom.
"No," answered George simply.
"How much have you saved, George?"
"Only seventeen dollars and sixty-eight cents."
"Oh, well I'll speak to papa myself. I think that's a near enough."

The Farmers' Life vs. the Professional Man.—The farmers and farmers boys who are so prone to condescend with and complain of their hard lot in life, we commend the reflections expressed by Wm. H. Seward while he was Secretary of State under Lincoln. In conversation with a friend Mr. Seward said:

"You know my lot has been called by men successful, perhaps one to be envied. I began life as a lawyer with a good practice in Western New York. I became State Senator from one of the richest agricultural sections of that State; then the highest State office was bestowed upon me, and for several years I was governor of that great State. After that I represented in the United States Senate the richest and most popular commonwealth in the Republic; and now I am Secretary of State, holding vast power during the most momentous period of our country's history. All official honor save one has been conferred upon me. With all this experience before me and within my own bosom this is the happiest lot I can wish for my sons: To be owners of good farms well stocked, out of debt, and know no more than ten miles from home."

The Herald and Its Editors.

In reply to an editorial in a recent issue of the Herald we desire to say that we fail to see its "fair treatment" and think that its "not intending to provoke discussion" reminds us of the money that used the cat's paw in pulling out of the fire, but often in with no thought of provoking discussion. So the Herald proposes to assist the gentleman in assaulting Methodism, slurring a large and respectable body of Christians and defending Presbyterianism, but wants no discussion. Thinks they are not good—especially when a defense is made. One might think its editor was distantly related to the Presbyterians or "estrangement" would have occurred to his mind when the manuscript that preceded mine came into his hands.

We assure the editor that we have felt naught but kindness toward him, despite his accusation of us being mad, and his slurs at our Christian spirit, but think his conduct in this matter, to say the least, not commendable. Personally he has done us no wrong and we admit treated us courteously, but we have not been purporting to defend ourselves, but our church, (which has been bitterly assailed) and the name of its honored founder. Having done this through the kindness of the REPUBLICAN we now retire with best wishes to all.

We stated that Mr. Hick's article was a misrepresentation of Mr. Wesley. In Mr. Hick's reply he informs us that he is not the author of "I never use the term sinless perfection," but assures us that Mr. Wesley is. This we grant. The printer having the name Hick in part 1st and 2nd in our article when it should have been Wesley. But it looks like Mr. Hick has willfully and knowingly misrepresented Mr. Wesley, for he states positively in his first article that Mr. Wesley taught "sinless perfection" and in the last assure us that Mr. Wesley never used the term. This looks like contradiction.

In Jesus,

U. S. TADOR,

"FIXING" THE RATIO.

A Question Regarding the Government Control of Money.

The Bankers' Magazine for March finds the origin of our present troubles about silver in the demand that the ratio of its value to gold shall be determined by the government. It is, however, no proper part of the duty of the government to try to fix the ratio of values of the two metals.
"Belief," says the Bankers' Magazine, "commodities as well as money, and being commodities before and after they are money, and being money simply and only because they are commodities, and being commodities because they have recognized and intrinsic value independent of any action of government, and even in the absence of government, and being therefore severally subject to all the laws of commodities, the law of variable supply and demand and value among others, and these variations not being uniform for both metals, it is impossible that government can ever fix the ratio of their value."
"If, however, it should be insisted that it is a function and duty of government to (try to) fix the ratio of their values, it would seem to follow as a logical consequence that, since their relative value depends absolutely on the relative supply of the two metals it is the primary and plain duty of government to fix (regulate) their supply by controlling and operating the gold and silver mines, the sources of their production. It should do both things or neither, and it is preferable that it should do neither. It is folly to expect it to do the former without doing the latter."

This is the truth of the matter in a nutshell. Unless the government first acquires all the mines in the world and decides how much silver and how much gold are to be produced yearly, it is impossible to maintain a ratio after it is "fixed." France "fixed" it 156 times, but it would not stay fixed, and France has at length abandoned the effort. The United States has also tried the experiment several times without success. It is time the theorists were letting the matter alone.

Currency Evils.

Twenty-five trade associations met at Young's hotel, in Boston, on March 8 and decided to petition congress to pass a bill authorizing the president to appoint a banking and currency commission. They demand the gold standard and the gradual retirement of the legal tenders and favor the issue of currency by the national banks to the par value of their bonds and a reduction of the tax on circulation. They also recommend additional banking currency, based on bonds, under national supervision, safe, elastic and redeemable in gold, and the establishment of banks with a capital of $25,000 or more in small towns and villages. The one important thing is that they demand action. The future of the currency question is very dark, but there is no consideration that is encouraging, and this is the appearance among the classes directly suffering from the free silver agitation of an organized effort at currency reform. That is something new, —Exchange.

Better Banking Facilities Needed. Discussing the poor credit and banking facilities of the west and south before the last meeting of the American Economic Association, Mr. Thomas G. Shearman said:

In the 11 southern states it is impossible that one-tenth of the farmers could have any bank accounts or could ever draw checks in payment for their retail transactions. In the recent campaign the successful candidate received the votes of 23 states, the defeated candidate the votes of 22. The 23 states hold 92 per cent. of all bank deposits and deposits. Deducting from the other 22 states the silver states and a few large cities the remaining vast agricultural section of the country, having 40 per cent. of the population and 75 per cent. of the area, has less than 4 per cent. of the bank deposits and deposits. This suggests what was the real grievance of this mass of voters, although they did not themselves understand it. Their banking facilities are proportionately only one-sixteenth of the rest of the country.

Condensed Japanese History. The Japanese government has adopted the gold standard. The Japs are the most progressive people of the east. All progressive nations are on the gold basis.—Pomeroy (O.) Leader.

Nearly all civilized countries have turned from a silver to a gold standard during the past century. None has turned from gold to silver.

There is not a silver standard country in which interest rates are not higher than in gold countries.

An Ancient Back-blow Sale. Hewitt—Cattle were once used as currency.

Jewitt—And I suppose when you went to the market you saw a card reading: "Marked Down to One Cent. Former Price One Cow."

How Can It Be?

The Demo Popocrats have united in this county on a ticket that the two conventions put out. A union at the conventions is a great deal easier in the than at the polls, however hard the former may be at times.

A few months back the Herald had no word too bitter or no language too averse to tell of the faults of the leprous People's party. Last fall, though, Billy Bryan seemed to be a shining light and served as such to the friends of reform. It would have worked very well, but Mr. Sewall was a plaster to the rank and file of the financial reformers and a great many of the People's party voters need but a little of that remedy as they are already drawn to a focus—office.

But Sewall is out of the way and as office at present seems to be their highest ideal, it is a good political policy to propose to the Democrats to split teams and pull each other out of the mud.

Just how hard the people are going to pull is difficult to say, but if they are true to their trust a united front will appear in November and what a glorious result will be accomplished—each one will be elected.

In the meantime, and as the old saying goes, "A burnt child dreads fire," our people have a good while to reflect, and they being a candid people, and not a people with a candle, each one who is really in earnest about reform will be very slow to take hold of the new machine made out of the sorting of the head and tails of the Demo-Popocratic party. If you want true reform come over to a party that has always valued principle higher than office, and has never lused with either old machine.

Everybody will have that chance on the 19th of May, when the Prohibitionists will gather together in the name of God Almighty and not for the sake of a few office seekers.—[Beaver Dam Gleaner]

The Value of a Dollar.

"If you can demonstrate to me that you can actually relieve distress with a dollar, I will give you what you want."

A rich cynic thus answered a woman who had come to him for aid to help the poor of their city. He hoped to silence her and sent her away.

"Will you come with me," said the woman, challenged in this novel manner, the man consented, and the New York Times relates the outcome. In a few minutes the two entered an unsightly tenement. The lady, who knew her ground, led the man up two flights of stairs into a cheerless room. The floor and walls were absolutely barren. The only piece of furniture, besides the bed, a chair and a dilapidated table, was a small stove in which a scant fire was burning.

There was a middle aged man in the room with two children, each poorly and thinly clad. The few dishes were empty. Destitution could hardly be more complete. The woman accustomed to such pathetic sights, soon learned what was most needed, and from long experience, she knew just what to purchase.

"Please wait," she said to the rich man, "while I run around to the store."

Full of compassion for this mute suffering, the gentleman waited. In a quarter of an hour a large grocer's basket, filled to the brim, was brought into the room. Soon the little stove threw out comforting heat, and the odor of food gave grateful cheer.

"Do you think this charity well bestowed?" asked the woman, as they left.

"Indeed, I do," came the answer with a suspicious tremor in the voice.

"Well, here is the list." He took it and read. We quote it word for word:

23 pounds coal20
2 bundles kintling06
Half pound tea15
2 loaves bread08
2 pounds oatmeal08
2 pounds beef for stew14
Half pound sugar05
Gallon kerosene oil10
Measure potatoes08
1 quart milk04
Small bag salt02
1 box matches01

Total $1.00

With out hesitation the man of money took a dollar bill and handed it to the poor woman, and the next day she received her check for a thousand dollars.

The knowledge of what a dollar can actually accomplish to relieve distress and bring happiness to the poor may restrain our hands from foolish extravagance. In these days, when honest poverty is crowding about us, it is nothing less than cruel to throw to many of our dollar-owners for purely selfish luxuries. Extravagant expenditures hold the germs of disaster. In their full fruition they give birth to paucity, lower moral standard, and stimulate envy, and incite social and political revolution.

A Horse's Affections. "I have not heard so pathetic a tale in a long time as that one which reached me the other day regarding a wonderful exhibition of animal affection. It appears that a well known young man who died rather suddenly some weeks ago, had a valuable horse which he had driven daily for something like ten years. Up to a day or two before his death he fed the animal daily; nobody else ever attempted it and the horse grew to be as fond of him as a human might have been. When the young owner died the horse noticed that other persons fetched him food and water.

"For several days the horse refused to eat. The family did all they could to induce the animal to touch the various articles they put before him, but without success. For days and days the horse was coaxed to eat, but he would not; the poor brutes suffering were pitiful for expression. The poor animal pined slowly away until a few days ago he died. I have not heard of so touching an incident in a long time."—[Dancer (Me) Daily Commercial.]
